

CRUIKSHANK TO GO BACK TO WIFE HE LEFT

New York Anarchists Threaten the Life of Gov. Foss

WEATHER—Rain to-night and Friday, warmer.

FINAL EDITION.

The World.

WEATHER—Rain to-night and Friday, warmer.

FINAL
EDITION.

"Circulation Books Open to All."

"Circulation Books Open to All."

PRICE ONE CENT.

Copyright, 1912, by The Press Publishing Co. (The New York World).

NEW YORK, THURSDAY, JANUARY 18, 1912.

18 PAGES

PRICE ONE CENT.

$4,000,000 GIFT TO BRIDE FROM BANKER STOTESBURY BEFORE WEDDING TO-DAY

Partner of J. P. Morgan Adds
Big Sum to Fortune in Jewel Gifts.

$500,000 IN NECKLACE.

Royal Weddings Surpassed in Splendor of Presents to Mrs. Cromwell.

(Special to The Evening World.)

WASHINGTON, D. C., Jan. 18.—The marriage this afternoon of Mrs. Oliver Cromwell to Edward T. Stotesbury, head of the banking house of Drexel & Co. of Philadelphia, at the home of the bride on New Hampshire avenue was made unique in the history of American marriages because of the vast sums that have been spent upon presents for the bride.

The treasure room in which the wedding gifts were displayed was a veritable Aladdin's cave of precious metals and priceless gems. A gift from the bridegroom of $1,000,000 worth of securities is merely an incident. There is a pearl necklace that cost $500,000, also a pendant from Mr. Stotesbury. He has been collecting the pearls for years from every corner of the globe. J. Pierpont Morgan sent a pretty little town in the shape of a $250,000 diamond necklace.

GIFTS SURPASS THOSE OF ROYAL WEDDINGS.

No royal wedding in Europe ever brought out such a wealth of jewels and gold and silver plate. And the blushing bride had got a trousseau to match—a trousseau that would fit out about three Charlemagnes and two German Emperors. Eighty Parisian gowns and sixty house gowns were mere items of this astounding trousseau. While looking over a list of a springtime romance (both the bride and bridegroom are well along in the summer of life) the Cromwell-Stotesbury wedding surpasses any other ceremony of the present epoch in the matter of gilded glamor. In some circles of society it is spoken of as a sort of Queen of Sheba and King Solomon affair, though it is hardly likely that even the Queen of Sheba owned $500,000 necklaces, or that King Solomon could have presented one or all of his brides with $1,000,000 for pocket money.

The ceremony was performed at 4 o'clock by the Rev. Alfred Harding, Bishop of the Protestant Episcopal diocese of Washington. Mr. Arthur Emlen Newbold represented Mr. Stotesbury as his best man. The bride had no attendant and was given away in marriage by her son, Oliver Eaton Cromwell. Her father, Judge Robert's, is ill in Florida and was unable to attend the wedding.

SOCIAL LEADERS FROM MANY CITIES INVITED.

Although it was at first announced that the wedding would be a quiet affair, it was an elaborate function and attended by social leaders from New York, Philadelphia, Baltimore, Pittsburgh and Boston.

The home of the bride had been lavishly decorated. A set of priceless were placed in front of the mantel in the drawing room, which gave the room-

(Continued on Last Page.)

The Cardinal Farley PORTRAIT

NOTICE

Owing to the very heavy demand for the portraits of Cardinal Farley offered for the coupon in last Sunday's World it has been impossible to fill promptly all the orders received by mail.

Those who have applied for portraits are requested to be patient. All pictures will be mailed by the end of the week.

BAY STATE GOVERNOR WHOSE LIFE IS SOUGHT BY BLACK HAND BAND.

EUGENE N. FOSS
GOVERNOR OF MASSACHUSETTS

TAFT BELIEVED READY TO FREE BANKER MORSE

President Confers on Case of Prisoner, Who Is Declared in Critical Condition.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 18.—President Taft, it is believed, will this evening commute the fifteen-year sentence of Charles W. Morse, while the White House and Department of Justice are reticent, it was learned by good authority that the President was about to act in view of the serious physical condition of the former banker.

For several hours Attorney-General Wickham and Pardon Attorney James A. Finch conferred over the report of Surgeon-General Turner on Morse's condition. Shortly before noon Finch took a bundle of papers to the White House, but refused to say what they were. In December Wickham stated that the instant it appeared that there was any danger of Morse dying his sentence would be commuted. The Surgeon-General has just reported that Morse is sinking and that it is doubtful whether he can be removed from the army hospital at Fort McPherson, where he is held a prisoner. Mrs. Morse came to Washington to-day to make a plea for her husband.

ATLANTA, Ga., Jan. 18.—While varying reports concerning the condition of Charles W. Morse have emanated from official reports to Washington and from his friends and legal advisers, he is practically the same as when transferred from the Federal Prison to the Army Hospital at Fort McPherson six weeks ago. He has had several shocking spells, which necessitated the use of stimulants, but, according to civilian physicians, he has been in no immediate danger of death.

His removal to Fort Springs, Ark., ordered last week, was postponed on account of his physical weakness.

BROADWAY IS BLOCKED, TRAFFIC IS JAMMED, TAXICAB TAKES FIRE.

Four Engine Companies and Great Crowd Lent Excitement to the Scene.

Four wildly dashing fire engines, with volumes of smoke trailing behind, sent lower Broadway into excitement this afternoon. When the apparatus pulled up at Broadway and Vesey street everything in the neighborhood thought it was another fire alarm. There was only one alarm, but it brought four engines and their tenders, two hook and ladder companies, one water tower, two battalion chiefs and one deputy chief to say nothing of a full fighting crew on the fire insurance patrol.

The fire? It was in the hood of a taxicab driven by William Kettner. The fire was put out of commission, but the taxi company will have to pay $25 for repairs. It cost the city $21.60 to turn out the apparatus.

GOV. FOSS GUARDED FROM ASSASSINS SEEKING HIS LIFE

Boston Police Hunt Three Anarchists From New York, Leaders in Death Plot.

STATE HOUSE WATCHED.

Executive Blamed by Plotters for Mill Riots Is Escorted to and From Home.

BOSTON, Jan. 18.—While extra Secret Service men guarded Gov. Eugene N. Foss to and from his home in Jamaica Plain and patrolled the corridors of the State House a dozen New York and Boston detectives searched the Italian quarters of Boston to-day for three anarchists who are alleged to have been sent here from New York to assassinate the Chief Executive. The authorities say the plot was revealed in "Black Hand" letters which they intercepted and which showed that the plans were well laid. A guard of the city and State police surrounded the residence in Jamaica Plain last evening to prevent any attack.

Dudley M. Hipman, Gov. Foss's secretary, said this afternoon: "We received word from sources which we considered trustworthy and from six widely different points that at a secret meeting held at night certain interests had sent to New York to have two Black Hand bomb throwers come over here to attack Gov. Foss and other officials and give attention to their residence."

"The sources of information were considered important enough to warrant sending notice to the State police and asking Police Commissioner O'Meara to guard the Governor's house. One confidential report came from Lawrence."

"It was on information that the feeling against the Governor was due to his action in sending the militia to Lawrence, as well as because he had signed the fifty-four-hour bill, which is an issue in the strike."

"The steps were merely precautionary, and we believe that nothing will happen."

It is the custom each day for the Governor to walk from his home in Jamaica Plain to the State House, a distance of more than four miles. This morning he left the house shortly before 8 o'clock and was escorted by a guard of State police. A number of the State officers walked directly in front of him, while the remainder walked behind.

Every precaution will be taken today at the State House to prevent any stranger seeing the Governor. "It's all poppycock," said the Governor. "The Black Hand stories don't worry me in the least. I don't think of the assassin's bullet."

LAWRENCE, Mass., Jan. 18.—Additional troops for the protection of the city and as a relief for those on duty since Monday were requested today of Gov. Foss by Mayor Scanlon. The request was immediately sent to Adj. Gen. Gardner W. Pearson.

EUGENE KELLY, BANKER, EXPIRES SUDDENLY.

Had Been Ill for Some Time, but
It Was Not Believed End Was Near.

Eugene Kelly, banker, son of the late Eugene Kelly, founder of the banking firm of Eugene Kelly & Co., died suddenly this afternoon at his home, Sixty-six street and Madison avenue. He had been ill for three weeks, but his condition was not considered serious. His illness took a bad turn today.

Drs. Fisher, Janeway and Lambert were hurriedly summoned by Dr. Constantin J. MacGuire, the family physician, but they were too late. The immediate cause of death was a general nervous breakdown complicated with arterial sclerosis.

"I LIED TO SAVE WOMAN'S NAME," SAYS KRAMER

But Miss Buchanan 'Broke Faith' After Attack, So Now He
'Tells All.'

HIS WIFE DOESN'T CARE.

"She'll Stick to Me," He Says,
After Admitting Being With Girl During Battle.

Martin Kramer, superintendent of the Morton Building, No. 115 Nassau street, whose son David, eighteen years old, was yesterday arrested and identified by Miss Helen Buchanan as being one of three men who attacked her last Saturday night on Shore avenue, Queens Borough, said today he was with the woman when she was attacked. Kramer has heretofore denied he accompanied Miss Buchanan.

Kramer's home is at No. 3 South street, Union Course, and Miss Buchanan lives at No. 121 Second street, Union Course. She is confined to her home as a result of the attack, during which she was severely pummeled and her fur muff, boa and a diamond ring were stolen from her.

When Kramer was asked today why he had denied being with Miss Buchanan he said:

"I did so to protect a woman's name. I think any real man would do the same thing under similar circumstances. Miss Buchanan failed to keep her agreement with me. After we had been attacked she agreed to say she was alone, but she did not stick to the story. She has made statements about me that made me feel the necessity of coming out and telling the truth about the case. She says I stood by and offered no resistance when she was attacked. That is not so, for I was the first to 'let mine.' She three men who attacked us jumped on me first and put me out. When I came to she was lying on the ground and I assisted her to her feet. After we started for home she agreed to say she was alone."

"I have known Miss Buchanan for over a year. She was formerly employed as a stenographer in the Morton Building. I always thought a great deal of her, and it was for that reason I denied being with her. My wife knew I went with her, but my wife will stick to me."

"My boy, David, did not have anything to do with the attack. He was with his brother and mother at the home of Mrs. Usher, a neighbor, playing cards last Saturday night. He is not the kind of boy who would do a thing like that. Miss Buchanan knows who attacked her. I believe it was some of her other admirers. I used to think I was the only one, but I have learned different."

"I bought Miss Buchanan the diamond ring that was stolen from her and I bought her the fur. I thought a lot of her and I did not want her good name to be injured, so I denied being with her, but she did not keep her agreement about saying she was alone."

Kramer is a dapper little man about 45 years old. When seen a few days ago and asked whether he was Miss Buchanan's companion on the night of the assault he emphatically denied it.

Kramer and Miss Buchanan had been to the theatre in Brooklyn and had got off a Long Island train at Square avenue. Suddenly, three men pounced upon them and both were subjected to a pummeling that necessitated the work of a physician. Kramer's boy, David, who was arrested, emphatically denies having had any part in the affair.

WOMAN STRANGELY KILLED; HUSBAND AND CHILD ILL.

Police in Jersey City Mystified by the Happenings in Birch Family.

The police of Jersey City were mystified today by the circumstances of the death of Mrs. Antonette Birch and the stupor of her husband and child in the bedroom of their home at No. 123 Main street, New Durham. The man and the baby were taken to the North Jersey Hospital and the surgeons worked over them for more than an hour before they recovered consciousness. There was no evidence of poisoning by gas or drug.

The police are working on the theory that an enemy of the family threw the contents of a bottle of chloroform into the window and then closed it down while the Birches were asleep.

Banker's Bride, Who Got $4,000,000 Marriage Gift

MRS. OLIVER CROMWELL

WILSON SILENT ON WATTERSON'S DRIVE AT HIM

Governor Not Prepared Now to Answer Editor in Harvey
Affair, but May Do So Later.

DETROIT, Jan. 18.—Gov. Woodrow Wilson of New Jersey, who reached Detroit shortly after noon today, positively refused to discuss the statement given out last night by Henry Watterson with reference to the Col. George B. Harvey case. He said he might prepare a statement on the matter later in the day.

"I am not prepared at the present time to make any statement regarding the attitude of Col. Henry Watterson," said Gov. Wilson. "I may give one out later, however."

Immediately after his arrival Gov. Wilson went to the Wayne Club, where he spoke at the Michigan Press Association luncheon. He delivered a non-partisan address. At 4 o'clock this evening the Governor will speak at a banquet in the Wayne Club, and he will again his address will be wholly non-partisan. At 9 o'clock he will talk at a big Democratic rally.

LOUISVILLE, Jan. 18.—Col. Henry Watterson of the Louisville-Courier has made a statement in regard to the reported break between Gov. Woodrow Wilson and Col. George B. Harvey, editor of Harper's Weekly. Col. Watterson says he expected to find in Gov. Wilson another Tilden, but found "rather a schoolmaster than a statesman."

Col. Watterson said Col. Harvey brought him and Gov. Wilson together eighteen months ago, and he had become interested in the Jersey man's ambitions. The conference at which the break came between Col. Harvey and Gov. Wilson was in Col. Watterson's apartment in the Manhattan Club, New York. The interview lasted more than an hour, and nothing disconcerting or unfriendly passed, says Col. Watterson, and then he goes on:

"From the first, however, there was a certain constraint in Gov. Wilson's manner, the absence of that cordiality and candor which should mark hearty confidential intercourse, intimating the existence of some adverse influence. His manner was autocratic, if not tyrannical, that had been."

ROMANCE REVEALED AS CRUIKSHANK TURNS UP ALIVE, TO JOIN WIFE

Engineer, Mourned for Two Years,
Had Become Betrothed to Miss
Catherine Robert of Flatbush,
Daughter of Wealthy Widow.

HE HAS CONFESSED ALL AND GONE TO PORTO RICO.

Secretly Aided Deserted Family
While He Made Love as "Donald Douglas," a Single Man.

Miss Catherine Robert, the daughter of Mrs. Adeline Robert of Centre Moriches, Long Island, who has just moved to Flatbush, was engaged to marry Capt. Barton Cruikshank, the National Guard officer of Potsdam, N. Y., supposed to have been drowned in the St. Lawrence River, from a canoe, in June, 1910. Cruikshank was found alive and well in this city last week.

His wife, supposing that he was dead, collected $20,000 life insurance, besides probating his will and settling his estate. A genuine sensation has been caused by the discovery that Cruikshank has been conducting an engineering and contracting business at No. 30 Church street under the name of Donald Douglas & Co.

RICHESON WILL EXPIATE CRIME IN DEATH CHAIR

Lawyers Will Make Appeal, but Lose Hope of Gov. Foss
Granting Clemency.

BOSTON, Jan. 18.—Death in the electric chair will be the expiation of Rev. Clarence V. T. Richeson's murder of a sweetheart, Avis Linnell. Hope of executive clemency that buoyed up the ministerial murderer so that he was able to stand calmly and listen to Judge Sanderford's sentence of death, was abandoned today by his counsel and his few remaining friends.

They read the handwriting on the wall in the action of the Governor, who, although absolutely opposing the institution of the death penalty, failed to commute Richeson's sentence. He extended to State N. Phelps, who will execute next week for the murder of Sheriff Hastings. Gov. Foss failed to act only after he had privately canvassed the nine members of the Council and found that seven believed in enforcing the law books.

The appeal to the Governor to act in favor of Attorney's Morse and Lee, Richeson's counsel, but they admitted today they have no hope. The sentiment against the minister is too strong. Thousands of letters have been received by the Governor and the Council demanding that the punishment the law prescribed be meted out.

Richeson will not be told that there is no hope until after he is removed to the Charlestown jail ten days before May 15, the date set for the execution. To do so would mean another breakdown. It was fear of the deadly chair that forced the confession.

Well, said T. J. O'Rourke, with a laugh, that had been.

Man of 68 Tries Suicide.

Michael Hinton, a soldier in the 10th Maine, who was in the 10th Maine at the battle of Antietam, was found today by a patrolman on the roof of the Lincoln Hospital, a prisoner. He is sixty-eight years old.

Upon the discovery of his duplicity Cruikshank disappeared again, going, it is believed, to Porto Rico. In the days before he left he made a full confession, stating that he had sent money to Mrs. Cruikshank for months under a name neither Cruikshank nor Douglas. Through his wife's sister and his brother-in-law, he arranged by correspondence a complete reconciliation with her and took a promise from her that she would rejoin him either in Porto Rico or in this country, as he should choose. He completely convinced Mrs. Cruikshank's relatives and lawyers there was no other woman in his life. NO PROOF THAT HE REALLY SAILED.

From the Porto Rico line it was learned to-day that "Donald Douglas" bought passage on the steamship San Juan and was assigned to an upper berth in a second-class stateroom. Miss Robert accompanied him to the boat last Saturday, but there is no proof that he actually sailed, for he persuaded Miss Robert not to stay at the pier until the steamer actually put out. On the other hand, it has been suggested that there was a woman on the ship with whom Cruikshank did not desire to have Miss Robert see him. His previous slippery disappearance in covering up his tracks.

Miss Robert was found by a reporter of The Evening World last night at the home newly bought by her mother at No. 47 High road, Flatbush. She admitted her engagement to marry Cruikshank, who was known to her only as Douglas, and told of going with him to the steamer.

Mrs. Robert, Miss Robert's mother, is one of the wealthiest widows on Long Island. She owns a beautiful country home at Centre Moriches. She is socially prominent on Long Island, and admitted Cruikshank to her home and introduced him to society under the name of Douglas.

"I have been deceived absolutely," said Miss Robert. "This is terrible. I met Mr. Cruikshank, whom I knew as Mr. Donald Douglas, some time ago. We became acquainted in an entirely conventional manner. He introduced himself, of course, as a single man."

"Yes, marriage was discussed between us. I liked him very much. We had quite decided to marry when his business was in a most prosperous condition. NO SUSPICION OF HIS OTHER MARRIAGE."

"That he was married and had two children—why, I had no suspicion," Miss Robert almost collapsed during the interview. "I went with him to the boat last Saturday when he left for Porto Rico."

"He told me he was going for a short while on a business trip. I suspected nothing, and went to New York and had